The SPMM On-line

- Please read the "Main Title Page" and the "Disclaimer and Caveats Page" for important information on the similarities and differences between the on-line and paper versions of this manual.
- Since the manual was originally created for department staff there may be links to other documents that will not work on the public site.
- There is additional information in the on-line version that does not appear in the paper version. These "Notes" have been added as a result of questions raised by agencies and staff. The Future?

We plan to provide access to other manuals, to forms used by agencies, and to additional sources of information. At some point we may begin to provide links to newly issued materials in "pdf" format and eliminate (or reduce the number of) printed copies we now send out by mail.
